

Dear President Anya Eskildsen,

I really appreciate having received your letter at the critical moment we are fighting against the COVID-19 epidemic. The aggressive novel coronavirus has changed our daily routines and without doubt has affected our work. However, our mutual concern and support for each other is astute and unwavering. On behalf of all staff and students from Kunming University of Science and Technology, I wish to extend our heartfelt thanks for your strong support and sincere concerns.

The ongoing efforts to contain the spread of the novel coronavirus in China have achieved preliminary results. KUST have taken a variety of effective measures to ensure the safety and health of our faculties and students. We are endeavoring to get everything ready for welcoming everyone back to school. I strongly believe that we will get through the hard time with the collective efforts of everyone in China and our international partner.

When knowing the COVID-19 epidemic is spreading in Denmark, students and staff in Niels Brock are firmly in our thoughts. We firmly believe that the epidemic will soon disappear and we will move on stronger than before.

The outbreak of COVID-19 will eventually end. We look forward to stronger ties and further collaboration. When we finally emerge from these testing times together, we hope to meet again in better circumstances!

Sincerely,

ZHANG Yingjie
Chair of University Committee
Kunming University of Science and Technology
